

ACEN SA/NT Think Tank

Innovation in Work Integrated Learning

Working towards our future

Work Integrated Learning (WIL) is used to describe educational activities that integrate theoretical learning with its application in the workplace.

The ACEN SA/NT think tank provides an opportunity for representatives from public, private and not-for-profit sectors to identify opportunities for innovative approaches to WIL with a focus on graduate employability.

Through a combination of presentations and discussion groups, and drawing on the key objectives of the National WIL Strategy, participants will share innovative practice in WIL, and identify practical strategies to develop new, and review existing partnerships, to support students in graduating with a more informed sense of their professional identity.

Tuesday 23rd June, 9.15am - 1.30pm

Flinders University City Campus

Room 10.1 (Level 10), 182 Victoria Square, Adelaide

Presenters

Karsten Zegwaard
Director of Cooperative Education
University of Waikato, New Zealand

David Dahm
CEO and Founder
Health and Life Pty Ltd
Adelaide, SA

Who should come?

Employers, academics, entrepreneurs, and members of the not for profit sector. This is an open invitation please forward to anyone who might be interested.

Registration

Visit acensant.weebly.com/registration.html to confirm your place and register by 13th June 2015. Seats are limited for this event.

Support for this activity has been provided by the Australian Collaborative Education Network Limited (ACEN). The views in this activity don't necessarily reflect the views of ACEN.